President Much Worried.

President Much Worried.

President Roosevelt is very much worried at the prospect of a Democratic House of Representatives being returned this fall. He has had something to say with every Republican who has called at the White House recently, indicating his desire to have the Republican majority in both houses continue. He has many plans to execute before the end of his administration.

He could not hope to find smooth salling for them with the Republicans in control at only one end of the capitol. Even if the Democrats would help him in the matter of securing legislation, it would go to the country as a measure lialf-Democratic, and the preside of the President would be largely lest.

There is absolute authority for the statement that the President will go to Pennsylvania during the present campaign and make a speech for the Republican toket. Of course, the speech will not be an out and out stump speech, but it will be of a character which the Republicans can use in the campaign, and with telling effect, of course. The old gang is in the saddle in Pennsylvania this year, with Boies Penrose, generally conceded to be the most ruthless politician new living, in the lead, Yet, President Republican Stato Convention at Harrisburg last week was read by the Prennsylvania Senator. It is understood that a copy of the platform adopted at the Republican Stato Convention at Harrisburg last week was read by the President at the White House before the convention assembled. The siaunch Republican papers of Pennsylvania have in many instances refused to support the Harrisburg ticket, but the President has indorsed it and will speak for it before election day.

have been climinated; the beef trust, which contributed so heavily to the campaign fund two years ago, will not give by a dollar this year. The Pennsylvania and all other railroads have no interest in seeing President Roosevelt returned, although he did render the roads excellent service in accepting Mr. Aldrich's amendment to the rate bill. The Standard Oil will not contribute any money to the Republican fund this year.

No matter how hard up the Democrats will be for the sinews of war, they are taking consolation of the fact that their opponents are in the same fax. A moneyless campaign will be an anomaly in modern American politics. It locks measurably hear that now. However, the Republicans have the protested interests to fall back on. But Mr. Roosevelt has indulged in some pretty strong revision talk. A tarief revision message is looked for by Congress before adjournment.

GREAT THRONG AT NEW CATHEDRAL

About 20,000 People Visit Christian Science Church-Annual Meeting To-day,

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BOSTON, MASS., June 11.—About 20,050 people visited the new extension of the Mother Church of Christian Science, deducated yesterday, and while no official programme had been arranged for to-day, the church was crowded from early morning by believers anxious to inspect the new edifice. To-morrow the annual meeting will be held, and it has been found necessary to arrange ten separate testimonial and experience meetings for Wednesday evening. At these meetings for Wednesday evening, At these meetings it is expected that talks will be given by Christian Scientists from all parts of the world.

Many of the visiting Christian Scientists oday went to Lynn to view the house in which Mrs. Eddy wrote "Science and Health," in 1866. A number of others spent the day visiting points of interest about the city. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. John Kernard, Miss Moille Langhorne, of Richmond; Mrs. Mabella Lahby, of Petersburg; Miss Huth Winston, Miss Hattic Willians, Miss Mary Way, Miss Amella Battelle, of Norfolk.

I saw polsoned rats lying hear sausage meat and waste ends of smoked beef stored in cellars, in damp barrels, moldy and defiled by the workingmen. I saw men spitting upon piles of fresh moat and washing their hands in water which was laded into the sausage choppers while I stood and watched. I stood for forty minutes in Armour's and saw hogs killed with no inspector on duty. I saw cattle killed in Morris's under the same circumstances for nearly as long.

"I consider that these things should be of concern to your committee. You wire me that 'conditions in the packing-houses have been fully reviewed." Possibly you think so, but I can assure you that the public does not think so. The Southern Gets Out Injunction Against the Corporation Commission.

PART OF A SINGLE SYSTEM

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., June 11,—As the members of the North Carolina Corporation Commission were leaving their office this evening after 6 o'clock, Deputy United States Marshal J. T. Sharp served on them a temporary injunction secured by the Southern Railway Company from Judge Thomas R. Purnell, of the United States Court, here restraining the commission and any other parties concerned from suing the Southern for penalties in connection with the Southern's refusal to obey the order of the commission to not change the schedule of train No. 111 at Raleigh, so it would pass on to Greensbore at 11:59 P. M., instead of waiting here until 11:40 A. M., as in the past, and also enjoining the commission against interfering at all with this schedule on the ground that all branches of the Southern are parts of a single system engaged in interstate mail and passenger service. The commission is directed to appear before Judge Purnell June 21st and show cause why the temporary injunction should not be made permanent.

permanent.

It is specified that the injunction is not to operate in any way against any regular proceeding pending before the commission, and the Southern declare their purpose to file formal answer with the commission to-morrow to the complaints that have been filed with the commission against the change of the schedule.

plaints that have been filed with the commission against the change of the schedule.

The Southern declares that the records show that the connection at Raieligh by their train with the northbound Seaboard at 1:20 A. M., which is sought through the Corporation Commission to force the Southern to maintain, was actually made only six times during April and May, and that it is of for more imactually made only six times during April and May, and that it is of far more importance to operate on the new schadule and connect with Southern train No. 30 at Greensbore at 4:12 for Salisbury, Asheville, Spartanburg, S. C., Charlotte and Allanta than to attempt to make the Seaboard connection at Raicigh, fallure here being due to the operation of anwelldly consolidated trains from Hamlet and Norlina by the Seaboard.
